

EuMA Young Scientist Contest

During IEEE UKRCON-2019, the Young Scientist Contest sponsored by the European Microwave Association (EuMA) was organized.

The authors/coauthors of the papers related to EuMA technical fields, accepted and included into the program who were under 40 by the date of the Conference, and who personally presented the paper were eligible to take part in the Young Scientist Contest.

The Award Jury consisted of the experts in the field and the scientists who represented Ukraine in EuMA.

Based on the quality of the papers (each reviewed by three reviewers), presentations, and associated discussions, the Award Jury made the decision to award six prizes: one 1st prize of 300 Euro, two 2nd prizes of 200 Euro, and three 3rd prizes of 100 Euro each.

The WINNERS are:

1st Prize:

Iurii Volk, Sumy State University, Sumy, Ukraine

2nd Prize:

Sergey Mizrakhi, Institute for Radiophysics and Electronics of NASU, Kharkiv, Ukraine

Fedir Yevtushenko, Institute for Radiophysics and Electronics of NASU, Kharkiv, Ukraine

3rd Prize:

Masha Bortsova, Ivan Kozhedub National Air Force University, Kharkiv, Ukraine

Vlad Khrychov, V. N. Karazin Kharkiv National University, Kharkiv, Ukraine

Katharina Smirnova, V. N. Karazin Kharkiv National University, Kharkiv, Ukraine